etery. Rev. D. L. Clark is in the midst of his evangelistic meetings at Franklin Square. He walked here Sunday and took dinner at the Cottage hotel, stating that he will likely begin revival services in this place the fore part of January. Owing to the sacred concert in the M. E. Church by the Jubilee Singers Sunday night, Rev. Clark did not remain here to preach.

Word came here from Lisbon that "Frank K. Bowker, a son of John Bowker of Washingtonville, and who has been employed by the Barlow Grocery Co. of this city, was united in marriage with Miss Wilma Watson at her mother's home on Water street at 7 p. m. Saturday. Mr. Bowker has taken a position with the Oriental company of Salem, and he and his wife will make that city their home.

Mrs. Winifred Baker has filed suit at Lisbon for divorce from George D. Baker. The parties formerly resided here in property of their own and raised three well disposed daughters, all living happily together and doing well financially. Mrs. Baker is the accomplished daughter of the late Lowis Reed and her husband is an economical, hard working man, having farmed and operated a country coal mine at various Thinking to improve their condition they moved from here to a tract of land near East Palestine and erected comfortable dwelling. troubles existed between them and only imaginary grievances appear to alienate their once happy peace of mind. Friends cable adjustment of their differences.

Human life don't appear to be worth anything in courts of late years. On the 4th of October, 1907, Leon Vignon was instantly killed in the Millville mine Leon Lixuel was made administrator and sued the coal company for $10,000, setting forth in his petition that the mine foreman had directed Vignon to go into a certain room and epair some track therein, and while in the discharge of his duty the roof of the room caved in and the man was killed. Plaintiff further charges that death was due entirely to the negligence of the company, in that it knew of the unsafe condition of said roof. The court, upon hearing the evidence at Lisbon last week, ordered the jury to return a verdict for the defendant company. Had it been a bank mule the verdict might have been different. About the same time a Canton court gave John O. Book $10,000 for falling over a pile of sand in Alliance. The six colored Jubilee Singers con stituted the leading attraction in this village Saturday and Sunday nights, and was the most popular yet held un-der the auspices of the Washingtonville entertainment course. There may have been better individual singers here in the past, but none who sang any more harmoniously. Mrs. Lena Bryant, in addition to being a charming soprano singer, is a good reader of negro characters. They appeared before an audience in Alliance Thursday night, in Sebring Friday night and here Saturday night, being entertained at the Cottage hotel over Sunday, and appeared in Salem Monday night. While here they was a second construction when the Mathematical states of the salem Monday night. they gave a sacred concert in the Meth-odist church Sunday night and were greeted by the largest audience ever assembled there, all the standing room being occupied and many more turned away in the rain. CANFIELD, MAHONING COUNTY, O., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1908.

NEWS GATHERED IN CITIES OF THE BUCKEYE STATE.

Stories of a Day's Doings as Recorded by Telegraph for This Paper.

Accountants in Hocking County. Columbus, O., Dec. 9 .- The state bureau of uniform accounting on Tuesday made public report of an examination of the books of Hocking county. M. G. Harbaugh, ex-treasurer, is said to owe the county $351.21 because he did not properly compute his share and the county's share of fees due on collections on the grand duplicate, and he is also said to owe $283.15, a shortage in the undivided general tax fund caused by a clerical error. J. W. Gabriel, the present treasurer, is said to owe $42.03, fees which he has falled to turn into the county treasury as required by the salary law, and there are other minor items against him, making the total charge $82.10.

State Must Sue Again for Rent. Columbus, O., Dec. 9 .- The supreme ourt on Tuesday refused to grant the motion of the attorney general asking the appointment of a master commis sioner to decide what amount of rent is due the state from the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road for the use of certain lands in Dayton and Hamfilton which the court decided some time ago, after long litigation, belonged to the state. The motion is refused for the reason that the cause is no longer on the docket, which means that the court thinks the state should bring an entirely new suit to collect the rent, instead of making this a part of the old suit to fix the state's title.

Hazel Murder Trial.

Toledo, Dec. 9.-Both sides in the trial of Harvey Hazel, the 17-year-old boy being tried for his life, accused of the murder of his mother, scored victories in the two sessions of court on Tuesday. The first was won by the defense when Judge Morris ruled out of the record the confession introduced by the police alleged to have been made by young Hazel after his arrest. The prosecution gained a point when evidence tending to show robbery in connection with the murder was introduced. It is now improbable that the boy will take the witness stand, as the confession has been excluded.

New Incorporations.

Columbus, O., Dos. 9.- Now Incorporations: The Reverse Draft Furnace Co., Akron, $20,000, S. D. Kenfield, H. J. Hough, Ray Cook, S. S. Osborn and L. H. Horner; the G. J. Probeck Co., Cleveland, $5,000, Max E. Meisel, J. S. Epstein, Clara F. Schrod, C. N. Fiscus and W. C. Rhodes; the Old Colony Savings and Loan association, Cleveland, $25,000, George L. Ludborough, James H. McConkey, Wilken Fowl, A. J. McDonald and W. J. Mc-Nulty; the Hensch Infant Food Co., Cleveland, $25,000, W. J. Mahon, C. A. McCarthy, M. T. James and others.

Boy of 5 Gets Nothing for Toes.

Columbus, O., Dec. 9 .- A minor may be guilty of contributory negligence according to a decision of the supreme court Tuesday, in the case of Albert Walls vs. the Cincinnati Traction Co. The boy was five years old in 1903, when he had his toes cut off by a street car. The traction company set up a claim of contributory negligence and the decision of the lower courts is affirmed by the supreme court, so the boy gets no damages.

Dayton, O., Dec. 9 .- The Ohio Leaf Tobacco Packers' association, in session here Tuesday, declined to pass a resolution favoring an increase in tariff duties on their commodity. committee was appointed to go to Washington and urge a uniform duty of 50 cents on Cuban tobacco, but this committee was discharged at the afternoon session and a policy of "let well enough alone" was approved by the meeting.

Cleveland Court House Case Advanced Columbus, O., Dec. 9.-The motion to advance the Cleveland court house case was allowed by the supreme court Tuesday, and the date fixed for December 15. The case is styled the prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga county vs. Madigan, treasurer, and is the one in which effort is being made to stop further work on Cuyahoga county's new court house.

Richert's Sentence Commuted. Columbus, O., Dec. 9.-Gov. Harris

on Tuesday commuted to nine years the sentence of John E. Richert of Jackson county, sent up for ten years in 1903 for rape with consent. He served three years in the penitentiary and has been for two years on parole All county officials recommended clemency. The commutation releases Richert at once.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Columbus, O., Dec. 9.-The follow ing are among the decisions handed down by the supreme court Tuesday: George Auer vs. Alex. Shank et al., Allen county, judgment affirmed; the Cleveland Electric Railway Co. vs. W. H. Kirkbride, Cuyahoga county, judgment affirmed.

Columbus, O., Dec. 9 .- Capt. J. D. Cranfis, who has been indorsed for appointment as assistant adjutant general, is here to confer with Col. C. C. Weybrecht, already selected for adju-tant general under the Harmon admin and with State Chairman ing to give a cantata Dec. 18.

The broad stream of American farmers pouring into Canada was "viewed with alarm" by some observers, who feared that the Canadian West would be Americanized, and would lose touch with Im-perial and even with Canadian sentiment. Now an alarm of a different kind is raised by the New York Times. The Times says that no fewer than 7,379 of Uncle's Sam's sons changed their alle-giance last year, "and it is now said that the total of citizens we have pre-sented to Canada have reached 40,000 in the last half dozen years. Before that time it would hardly have been thought possible; it has seemed so natural for othernationalities to become Americans, but so contrary to the course of nature for Americans to forswear their country. Editor's Note-The Times is in error. Americans do not forewear their country in becoming naturalized Canadian

The explanation is simple. Perhaps some of the newcomers had been brought up in the belief that Cauada was a down-trodden colony, wherein liberty with-ered under the shadow of monarchical and aristocratic institutions. They found that Canada was as free as their own country, and that their change of home meant little more than a removal from Ohio to Minnesota. On the other hand, if the Canadians in the west feared that the newcomers would be imbued with revolutionary ideas, that fear would be speedily dispelled by closer acquaint-ance. The American farmer is usually a hard-headed, practical fellow, with a strong vein of conservatism in his character. He wants to farm in the most modern way, to make money by farm-ing, to take plenty of enjoyment out of life, to give his women folks all the comforts and conveniences that are available, and to have the best possible education for his children. He will not quarrel with institutions that afford him these advantages.

Will patriotism, American or Canadian, suffer by the interchange of pop-ulation, and the knowledge thereby gained? Rational patriotism will not suffer. No patriotic citizen of Canada or of the United States will regret that the people of the two countries are learning to understand each other. The development of each country, the national ambition of each country, will be furthered by the clearing away of those misunderstandings which elsewhere create danger of war. An English writer once proposed an arrangement by which a man could hold citizenship in the British Empire and in the United States at the same time. The idea seems fanciful today, but it may be realized in the future. Why should international relations be regarded as absolutely fixed and rigid, and incapable of development and progress? A century ago the relations now existing between the United Kingdom and the self-governing colonies would have been inconceivable. A new conception of international relations is being developed on this being developed on this continent, where the United States and Canada its side by side for thousands of miles with unguarded frontiers. The ease with unguarded frontiers. The ease with which one citizenship is renounced and another taken up may give a shock to some old-fashioned ideas, but it may be only one of the features of new order of international relations.

DEC 9-Last Saturday morning fire was discovered in the dining room of Lewis Manchester. By the heroic effort of Mrs. Manchester, who went in-to the fight single handed with a determination to win, the fire was extin-guished before much damage was done. The loss sustained was a lace curtain and window shade, a couch was considerably damaged and the wainscoting was scorched in a number of places. Mr. Manchester had gone to the barn but a short time before and when Mrs. Manchester came down to prepare the morning meal she found the fire kindled
